To Whom It May Concern:

The following information provided, is the result of my professional experience with Lumacurve Sign Company. We at the Indianapolis Int'l Airport have over 400 hundred lumacurve, airfield signs. Our four reliever Airports are currently receiving new and updated signs for their facilities also. Our professional, working relationship has continued for over ten years.

We judge a company by their commitment to quality control and technical support. Lumacurve Sign Company has performed very well in theses categories. The signs we have received are always complete and the legends are correct.

Our electricians recommend Lumacurve signs for their durability and maintenance free operation. For over ten years our Airfield electricians have reported no major defect. One benefit that has been noted is how weather tight the unit is. We have benefited from this do to moisture that can damage electronic components. With the aerodynamic design of their signs, jet-blast has never been a concern. The sign will fall over, but only at the FAA designed breakaway coupling. The integrity of the sign has withstood the blast.

The cost of doing business is always a concern, and Lumacurve Sign Company has helped by offering a 24-four hour wait free replacement policy. In the past when a sign would be damaged it would take other sign manufactures weeks to deliver our order. Since Lumacurve Sign Company delivers so quickly we no longer stock sign panels. This keeps our inventory cost down.

I would be happy to address any of my comments. Feel free to contact me at anytime. I have no personal or financial affiliation with the Lumacurve Sign Company.

Sincerely,

Michael Medvescek
